THIS PAPER RECEIVES THE COM-BINED TELEGRAPHIC-NEWS SER-NICE OF THE SOUTHERN ASSO-CIATED PRESS AND THE UNITED PRESS.

STATE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION. The State Democratic Convention, in session at Staunton yesterday, adopted R free-silver platform by a vote of about 4 to 1, and agreed to the unit rule by a vote of about 2 to 1.

of all the ten districts, only the Norfolk District Convention reported the mmes of goldites as delegates to the Chicago convention. The enforcement of the unit rule was particularly distasteful to them, and was opposed by them and many others, including numerous silverites, as antagonistic to the best interests of our party in this State.

The Dispatch cannot but regret this action of the convention's, because our old rule had worked well, and because the effect of the change will be to make it more difficult to bring all of our voters into line in November. But we trust to the cooling down of the feelings of the hour to make our party in this State practically unanimous in support of the platform and nominees of the national convention.

Throughout the speeches made in the convention by the minority men there was n promised obedience to the decrees of the Chicago convention. Harry Tucker, in his speech, which seems to have beer one of marked ability and frankness, voiced the sentiments of the minority on this subject.

"The majority must rule" is the doc-Democrats.

An interesting feature of the convention was the speech of Senator Martin, in which he declared that though differing with the leaders of the free-sliver move ment as to details, he had all along been as one with them on the main question.

We conclude that he was not a supporter of the unit rule

Mr. Martin was outspoken in denunciation of the Cleveland adminintration, which utterance of his was received with mingled cheers and hisses, the former predominating. The next speaker was Mr. Tucker, who not only proclaimed his purpose to abide by the result of the Chicago convention, but spoke warmly in praise of Mr. Cleveland, though he said he had often differed with the President in matters of public policy.

The action of the convention with reference to a Virginia constitutional convention was confined to answering the slanders put out by the State Republican Conwention. So the constitutional convention scheme is not made a party measure. It is left to be decided upon by a solid Republican vote and a divided Democratic vote. The forebodings that the Dispatch has had of late on this subject were shared by the convention. OUR MUCH-MIXED POLITICS.

We cannot but repeat what we have said several times heretofore, that it is a great pity that the Democratic National Convention will not be held until the 7th of next month. So long as the Democrats are without a nominee for President of the United States, they will fight one another. We might say they for the Republican National Convention will nominate their candidate and creet their platform on or about the 16th of June, and the Republicans will take good care to try to frame their platform so as to compel the Democrats to divide on the several subjects upon which the Republicans hope to keep their own party to gether-the sound-money question and the tariff question, particularly. It is greatly to be regretted that the Democratic party should find itself in circumstances may force the two wings of that party to fight one another for the next five weeks. The closing of the mints of India was a movement which has resulted in setting the whole commercial world at loggerheads. 'It is not too much to say that, but for that unfortunate movement, present condition of the finances of every country would not only be different, but better. Perverse John Bull was determined to have his own way, and he did have it. But his perverse ness would not have resulted as it did had not been encouraged to dare to every reason for exultation and self-con gratulation; but the next condition in which he will find himself may be entirely different from the one in which te has kept himself ever since he closed the mints to free coinage.

When things get to the worst they begin to improve. There is no foundation for the fright in which so many good people find themselves, based upon the idea that the finances of the entire world are to be permanently deranged, and poverty planted in every house and at every door. We still think that the sound-money men are engaged in a good cause, as opposed to the free coinage of silver, 16 to 1, without international cooperation. Nevertheless, though things are bad enough as they really exist, it is wrong to try to alarm the people, and lead them to believe that there is nothing but ruin and wrong, and financial troubles before us. "The bottom" has not dropped out, we say once more, and is not going to drep out. The people of this country are too intelligent to "lose their heads" under such circumstances as those in which it is expected they will soon find themselves.

We have no patience, however, with the false prophets who will have it that the country is to be ruined. We hope for better things. We are confident that the ondition of things to follow the success of free coinage will not be nearly so bad as some people expect it to be. Large bodies move slowly. At any rate, all of us should lend a helping hand to the men who will seen go to Chicago and exert themselves in the effort to prevent a 'silver craze" or anything else from ruinng the greatest nation on the face of the earth.

We write upon the assumption that the silverites are going to control the Demoratic National Convention. But this is only guess-work-not a fact already ascertained. "There is many a slip 'twixt the up and the lip," and one of these slips may change the aspect of things very much between now and the assembling of the Democratic National Convention. Besides, there are so many shades of opinion amongst the so-called silver men that nobody can tell how even the first ballot in that body will "show up." All is not lost because the southern Democrats in their poverty have aligned themselves with the silver men.

In a word, let us make the best of "the situation."

THE CHICAGO CONVENTION.

Some mischief-makers are trying to create the impression that the Chicago convention may or may not be a Democratic National Convention; but we do not so understand the purpose for which that convention is to be held. The Washington Post pretends to think that Mr. Teller might be the nominee of that con ention. It says:

"Mr. Teller has always been a straight out, stalwart Republican; but we know also that the mere fact of a man's being a Republican does not necessarily dis-qualify him for nomination by a Demo-cratic convention."

We quote further: "Mr. Teller has announced that if the St. Louis convention inserts a gold-stand-ard plank in the platform he will with-draw from the party absolutely. He will then be no longer a Republican. As a matter of fact, he will be the ablest, the matter of fact, he will be the ablest, the most conspicuous, and perhaps the most popular of all the champions of free silver coinage. He will be a leader of that cause which the Democratic party seems now to have adopted and to have put at the head of its list of aspirations. He will oe, to all intents and purposes, a Democrat, for he will have at heart the Democratic contest, and be at one with Democrats in what they now regard as the paramount issue of the day."

As we understand it, no one but a

As we understand it, no one but a Democrat can be nominated for President by the Chicago convention. It is to that body that the Democrats now turn their eyes when they are searching for the men who are to harmonize the differing factions in the Democratic party. trine of our party, and, whether the Chi- They do not admit that Senator Teller cago convention affirms or reverses the is a Democrat, or eligible to the nominaaction of our State convention, the Chianybody is entitled to attend that body as a delegate who is not willing to pledge himself to support its nominees and stand upon its platform. A national convention which is not clothed with the power to exclude all protended members is no national convention at all, but is burlesque upon conventions.

We regret deeply that the Chicago convention is so far off, but we do not concede that for that reason or any other the Democrats of the whole country are to be overslaughed.

The Post may "pick its grass in pieces." but it will not succeed in depriving the Chicago convention of its powers.

The Bankers' Association of West Virginia convened in Wheeling on Wednes-day. The convention was the best attended in its history. We quote:

"A number of papers on various sub-jects connected with banks were read Comptroller Eckels was to have deliver-ed an address on currency, but was un-able to be present, and sent a letter of

"Free silver coinage was discussed this afternoon, and a resolution favoring the gold standard was passed. The bankers present were about evenly divided politi-cally, but are unanimous against free silver. A banquet tendered by Fairmont bankers was held to-night, at which all the speakers declared for sound money and against free silver."

Wednesday night the students of the '97 class of St. Francis Xavier's College, New York, rendered Hamlet in Latin, the translation of the text into the dead language having been made by the boys themselves. The Herald pronounces the rendition a success from both a dramatic and a literary standpoint. Here is a suggestion for some of our southern college The effort of the St. Francis Xavier stu dents was even more ambitious than th rendering of an original Greek play, and we are not surprised to learn that their will be compelled to fight one another; version of the famous tragedy was foilowed with the closest interest by the classical scholars in the audience.

thousand years for nothing. In that country a man convicted of bigamy is punished by being compelled to live with both wives in the same house. The few bigamists who have survived the fearful ordeal have petitioned the Diet to commute their sentences to fourteen years in the penitentlary, but the Diet does not consider that bigamy deserves such clemency.

The National Association of Brewers. in session at New York, has voted a the fund for relief of the St. Louis cyclone sufferers. This action is not only where is the brewer held in higher esteem than in St. Louis.

Owners of boats on the Erie canal are "kicking" against the use of the canal tow-path as a bicycle-way. It strikes us that if they would allow their mules to do the kicking, they would soon have single gold standard. At present, he has | no cause of complaint

Nothing could be franker. The Farmers' Alliance was in favor of the free coinage of silver. Its members would vote for no man opposed to that proposition. McKinley sent the letter to the Alliance to assure its members that he deserved their support. This declaration has not until now found its way out of Stark county, but no doubt Major McKinley will be glad to have his written and carefully-considered opinion on the monetary question brought to the attention of the American public at large. The letter throws a strong light on his character. It will interest the businessmen of the whole country.

The Dry-Goods Market. The Dry-Goods Market.

NEW YORK. June 4.—The dry-goods market has not presented any new feature of importance to-day. It is still but indifferently attended by buyers, and the demand through the mails, for both supplementary lots of seasonable merchandise and for goods for fall, comes forward cautiously. The course of the cotton market is against the market for such staple cotton goods as come immediately under its influence, and, although the price of cotton has little to do with cost of current production of goods, and has all along been much above a fair parity with the prices of the latter, buyers are using the recent decline in raw ers are using the recent decline in ray material as a factor in their favor.
